HEALTHY SCHOOLS

The Healthy Kids Collaborative of Dane County is pleased to announce the 2019-2020 winners of our first annual Healthy Kids Healthy Schools Award. Healthy Kids and our school partners launched this initiative to celebrate the wonderful work schools throughout Dane County are doing to promote health and well-being for students, staff, and families.

Dane County schools were asked to complete an assessment to gauge their current activities in the following areas: Healthy Food in School, Being Active in School, and Healthy & Well in School. Activities such as planting a school garden or providing active indoor recess earned points for schools based on complexity and the number of students, staff, or families impacted.

Congratulations to all the school wellness teams and champions who make their school buildings healthy and happy places to be! Each participating school will receive a window cling to be displayed at the front of their building announcing them as a Healthy Kids Healthy Schools Award winner. Each school will also receive their results and a customized Action Plan outlining ways to build upon their successes.

School staff across Dane County will be invited to participate in the first annual Healthy Kids Healthy Schools Summit this spring. Organized by staff and students for staff and students, the Summit will amplify initiatives around well-being.

The Healthy Kids Healthy Schools Award is generously funded by a grant from the American Cancer Society to support school wellness.
